Residential Fixed Term Contract (24 months)

Our residential Fixed Term Contract is a contract for the provision of broadband services listed in which we fix the price payable by you in return for you taking those services for a minimum period (18-months) at the fixed price*.

Flexibility to upgrade and downgrade services

Mid-contract upgrades: during the 24-month minimum period you may upgrade your broadband services to any higher available speed tier (i.e., from 150mbps to 500mbps or 900mbps) on 30 days’ request, for the remainder of the 18-month minimum period (i.e., you won’t have to commit to a new minimum period). The upgraded services will be charged at the advertised price at the date we receive your request, which shall be payable by you for the remainder of the minimum period, but no other upgrade fees or charges will apply.

Mid-contract downgrade: during the minimum period you may also downgrade your services to the next lowest speed tier (i.e., from 900mbps to 500mbps, or from 500mbps to 150mbps). You can do this in one of two ways: either pay the cancellation charges for the current contract and enter into a new contract based on your requirements e.g. 12-month fixed term; or enter into a new fixed term contract for the downgraded services for a new minimum period of 24 months (or nearest equivalent if an 24 month fixed term contract is not available) in which case you won’t have to pay cancellation charges on your cancelled services.

Free Installation (no activation fees)

Our 24-month Residential Fixed Term Contract comes with no installation or activation fees (usually £90) if you sign up for the 18-month fixed term contract during the Offer Period
